JEB DUNNUCK

94 POINTS

Darker colored with loads of minerality in its smoky black cherry fruits, underbrush, and peppery herbs, the 2016 Pinot Noir Bentrock (16 months in 50% new French oak) is juicy and fresh on the palate, with integrated acidity, ample mid-palate, and a great finish. While it shows the charming nature of the vintage, it's going to benefit from a year or two in the cellar.
